

Difference between front and back end

What do you intend to address, the technical or practical(obvious) difference.

Technical

Back end hosts operations the data etc. the stuff you don't see that really pull and bind together the user experience.

Front end would simply be the design making sure that the user has a polished and whole product

Python over JS

They are similar scripting languages, however python would be the choice due to strong built in support for packages, readability, and community

Thing to walk away with

I would like to see more practical use of python and its applicable use with user data

This achievement I hope to understand how to use python or at the very least know where to look for answers for python use

Finding real world use for this stuff
